Janet's Working style

Janet is a meticulous, steady, thorough individual who tends to be quite logical. She is outwardly calm and contained, but is technically correct and sensitive. Janet is a naturally hard worker who will smooth controversial situations and will not make quick or un-researched decisions. Janet can be suspicious, probing and shrewd in an attempt to think through all possible avenues, prior to acting. She values sincerity, genuineness and standards. Although non-aggressive, she can be rather steadfast in a private way, particularly because she knows that she is usually correct.

Janet has a need to feel appreciated and respected at work. She appreciates clear guidelines for a task and she has a desire to complete her work steadily and without pressure. She is a consistent worker, but needs to be allowed to work at her own pace if the best results are to be obtained. Janet strives to be a good organiser. She may have the ability to work well at practical and craft skills. She is also able to apply patience and an eye for detail to a task. Janet is mild, very accommodating and can fit into social or working environments with quiet ease, especially those which are familiar and comfortable to her.

As a patient and deliberate person, Janet will offer any organisation her loyal and unswerving support when she has an environment free from fast paced change. She has an underlying need to deliver her very best in a quiet and helpful way. Janet will use her specialist and technical skills with diligence and persistence, to solve problems.
